A Time to Remember...

A transformational chapter in the story of the Bahamas is being remembered this weekend as members of the St. Augustine's College Class of 1969 gather in Nassau to commemorate the 40th anniversary of their high school graduation.

These teenagers of the late 1960s proudly wore the SAC colors at a time when the term "the Big Red Machine" earned its meaning in the fields of sport, and when matching academic effort and achievement were expected and demanded. There was in the long perspective of time perhaps not all that much to distinguish this year from the many that came before and after it, but its members enjoyed a unique spirit of shared pride and experience.

Within SAC, this melting-pot of 125 Bahamians and expatriates, rich and poor, Whites, Blacks, Hispanics and Asians, Catholics and Protestants (and some non-Christians), Nassuvians and Islanders, all watched and in some measure helped shape profound change. During their tenure the student body exploded from a couple hundred to well over 1000. They moved from the hilltop monastery to the modern new campus in the valley – which many of the boys, in their hours of detention, physically helped to build. An experiment in boarding school accommodations began and ended. They enjoyed the switch from a unisex campus to co-ed as the all-girls high school of Xavier's College was amalgamated into the all-male SAC. They were guinea pigs in a pioneering transformation of the curriculum which would continue meeting high GCE standards while emphasizing preparation for higher education in the US rather than the UK. Rising black consciousness and pride were nurtured and promoted with the changing faces of the faculty and its leadership.

Off –campus, the '69ers were in the midst of social and cultural upheaval that cut into religious vocations and saw many priests and monks move from the cloisters back into the secular world, marking the beginning of the slow end of monastic life on the Fox Hill site.

Economically these students watched Bahamian money change from pounds and pence to dollars and cents. Politically they witnessed the arrival of internal, responsible self-government and celebrated its transition to majority rule and, not long afterward, joined the rejection of colonialism and the constitutional dawn of independence.

Some of the Class of 1969 pursued higher education, and some did not. With or without college degrees, they have helped build lives, families and a nation. Their numbers, though lowered by a few deaths and scattered today all over the Bahamas and the world, have included lawyers and teachers, deliverymen and doctors, writers and radio personalities, radicals and rastas, artists and activists, bankers and bureaucrats, churchmen and comedians – many of their names immediately recognizable and remembered with respect by their contemporaries and succeeding generations.

Many months of planning will culminate on the weekend when roughly a third of the class will gather for a reception on Friday, May 22, a beach party and dance on Saturday, a church service and farewell brunch on Sunday.

WELCOME

Dear Classmates:

A warm welcome is extended to you on the occasion of the 40th. anniversary of our graduation. We have gathered together once again to reacquaint, reminisce and give God thanks for all the blessings he has bestowed on us.

To those of you who are celebrating for the first time, this will be a weekend you will remember for years to come. For the few days we are together, let us forget about our problems, misfortunes and busy schedules so that we can enjoy the company of old friends whom some of us have not seen in forty years.

Enjoy the activities and let's make a special effort to keep in touch with one another and enjoy life to the fullest.

BE BLESSED!

From Then to Now (1969-2009)...

PRESTON ALBURY ("Slinger")

Preston has been serving with the Ministry of Education for more than thirty years. Within the Ministry's framework, he has filled a pivotal role both as a teacher and coach. His influence in this capacity is reflected by the ever-growing number of devoted colleagues and students that he has impacted. Preston is a dedicated husband and father as well as a respected educator. He is married to Celestine Albury. They have two wonderful daughters, Acchia and Aymara who are currently pursuing higher education.

LEVITICUS ANDERSON

Leviticus' career began in Freeport with more than a decade at Wometco Enterprises. After serving as an electronics technician, he eventually became a technical manager of Night N' Day TV Services, and then from a cable tech to chief technician with Grand Bahama CATV Ltd. He was technical manager for Cable Bahamas in Freeport from 1995 to 1998, then Technical Operations Manager at head office in Nassau until he retired from Cable Bahamas at the end of 2007. He now lives with his wife in Eleuthera where they own and operate a drugs and beauty supply store in Deep Creek. Leviticus is also the assistant pastor of Deep Creek's Mt. Zion Native Baptist Church. His hobbies include playing bass guitar and the organ/keyboard in church. "Have a Blessed day!"

ALBERT ARCHER

After graduating from the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Albert was with Carib Insurance Agency for 34 years, 24 years were spent as Managing Director. He never missed a day of work the entire time. Albert retired in September, 2007. He now lives in South Palmetto Point, Eleuthera, working more leisurely as the Managing Director of the Island Group of companies, comprising Island Insurance, Island Business Centre which is made up of Island Watercraft Rentals and Island Seaside Suites. Albert is a member of St. Michael's Methodist Church where he served six years as chairman of the congregational board (chief layman) before moving to Eleuthera. He married Alexandra Marshall 33 years ago. They have two children, Evanne Bowe & Gabrielle Archer, and one grandchild, Dylan.

GLENN BANNISTER (“Bop”)

After SAC and a diploma from Nassau Technical College, Glenn continued his studies at St. Gregory’s College and Oklahoma City University in Oklahoma and at the University of Central Florida in Orlando. He successively earned his Associate, Bachelor of Science and Masters’ degrees in Business Administration (Finance). He has been employed for many years as Managing Director of Morton Salt Bahamas Ltd. in Inagua. Over the years he has been founding chairman of the Inagua Development Association, President of the Inagua Kiwanis Club, a director of the Bahamas Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Young Presidents’ Organization. He continues to serve today as President of the Bahamas National Trust, President and Treasurer of the Bayroc Condominium Management Company and a director of Colina Imperial. Glenn has five children: Terou, Bianca, Glenn Jr., Kazia and Raquel. His hobbies are tennis and scuba diving.

SHERWIN BETHELL Sr. (“Shea”)

Sherwin is a service provider with United Parcel Service in New York City where he has earned UPS’s annual Safe Driving Award 19 times. His only child, Sherwin “Shea Tee” Bethell, Jr., died in a car accident in August, 2006 at age 24. Sherwin has deeply involved himself with youth sports, serving as a Harlem Little League baseball manager and Winter Clinic coach for ten years. His accomplishments earned him a featured listing in the 1991 book “Baseball in America” (pp32-32) and a Certificate of Recognition from NYC Mayor David Dinkins for the Harlem Winter Baseball Clinic that same year. Sherwin has also organized two softball trips to play the sport in Nassau at the Old Timers Softball League and was formerly a member of the Bahamian-American Association in New York. His interests are sports, travel, photography and music.

MARILYN BROOKS-WATSON ("Jumpy")

After SAC, Marilyn attended the Nassau Technical College for a year before beginning a career with Royal Bank of Canada in March 1971. She retired from that institution in January of this year. She married Reginald Watson in 1970, but lost him nine years later in an auto accident. She was challenged again in 1987 when she was diagnosed with adult dermatomyositis, a serious disorder affecting the muscles and skin, but this, too, she overcame. Marilyn is mother of four children: Lisa (Reginald's daughter), Wayde, Tamara and Anastasia; and grandmother of seven. She has a passion for baking, and while getting used to retirement, she is pursuing her dreams and awaiting the arrival of two more grandkids.

MICHAEL BROOKS

Since leaving SAC in 1969, Michael has been on a long winding road which will lead him to that perfected, straight path. The journey continues. At first, there were a few years spent in investment and commercial banking institutions; this was followed by college studies, work and residencies in California and later New York. Michael returned to The Bahamas in 2002 and most of his time is now spent in North Andros. His wife, Diana, shares his life-long passions for art, travel and environmental conservation.

LENA BURGZORG DOTTIN

Lena left SAC to attend Elizabeth Seton College (all girls) in New York with best friend and favorite classmate Karen DeGregory. The only other two “sistahs” at the College were from New York City, so on Fridays they boarded the fast train into the City to experience the intrigue and mystery of Harlem and the hustle and bustle of Manhattan. Eventually, Lena became one of the first lecturers at COB, and published the first romance novel by a Bahamian author. (Check out her website: www.cvaughnbooks.writernetwork.com). Lena married her friend of ten years and science wiz, Selvin Dottin. They are blessed with two daughters and a son and now live in Orlando, Florida. They’ll soon be celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary. “Peace!”

ANDREA CARHART THOMPSON

Andrea graduated from Saint Leo College with her Bachelors degree at age 19 and then married her husband of 36 years, Joe Thompson. Their home has always been Grand Bahama. Thompson Wholesale made the food business part of their lives for many years until they sold it and retired ten years ago. They got bored, though, and launched a landscape company, Austin Thompson Outdoor. They have been blessed with two sons and a daughter, one grandson and three grand-daughters. Another grandson and grand-daughter - twins – are expected this summer. Andrea is actively involved in fund-raising for the Children's Home and the Freeport Rugby Club where she assists the neighborhood boys. "We are just like bottles of fine wine and get better with age!!!! SURE!!!!"

BRENFORD CHRISTIE

After graduating from Saint Augustine's, Brenford pursued further studies in London, England. He returned home to the Bahamas in 1972 and was articled with the late attorney, Paul H. Bethel in the law firm of McKinney, Bancroft & Hughes. He was called to The Bahamas Bar in 1978, and is now a partner in the firm. He lives in Freeport, where he is the resident partner of the McKinney, Bancroft & Hughes office. Brenford is married to the former Baroness Angelika von Canal and they have a son and a daughter. It is unclear whether he still tells tall tales, e.g. about the mosquitoes in Inagua and the caliber of weapon needed to knock them down.

KEITH CULMER (“Uncle Rush”)

After completing his studies abroad, Keith entered the work force in Nassau in 1973. He has been with Insurance Management since 1983, serving for 24 years as financial controller, and for the past several years now as office manager and human resources manager. He has also established his own convenience store business. He married Sharon Pander in October, 1974. Their first child, Todd Keith, now a pharmacist, was born in July, 1976; their second child, Kerry, is a store manager.

GREGORY DAVIS

Gregory Davis lives these days in quiet Palmetto Point, Eleuthera. He is married to Geneth Patricia. The couple has one adopted son, Jonathan who is at Hinds Community College in northwest Mississippi. He is an automobile technician (on-board computer specialist), a commercial beekeeper producing the Bee Pure Honey line, and an airframe and power plant mechanic and pilot. Never a man to waste words, he refers to himself humbly as a “Jack of all trades and master of most.”

KAREN DEGREGORY-MARCHE (“Kay”)

After SAC and her studies in New York (see Lena’s tell-all above), Karen worked for 30 years in the accounts payable department at Syntex Corporation in Freeport. She has been employed for the past eight years as a Gaming Inspector with the Gaming Board and oversees casino operations. She is the proud mother of a daughter, Kyra, 30 and two sons, Kamaal, 27 and Kean, 20. Karen used to be an avid bowler, and represented The Bahamas in tournaments in Victoria Island, Canada; Reno, Nevada; Miami, Florida and Bogota, Columbia. Her hobbies include walking, reading and exercising. She attends the Anglican Church of the Ascension.

RICHARD FAWKES

After SAC, Richard spent four years working with Customs and British Airways and clerking with Sir Cecil Wallace-Whitfield. He then began an odyssey in the U.S. studying international relations at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. and government and journalism at the University of Maryland; earned a BA in public administration and did graduate work in creative writing at the University of San Francisco; took graduate courses in education at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. He lived for a time also in New York City; Berkley, CA; Portland, OR; the Pioneer Valley of Massachusetts and, most recently, in Seattle, WA. Over the years he has taught English, Spanish and Social Studies, and worked as political activist, journalist, and human resources and programme manager. He now spends time in The Bahamas, especially Abaco where his forebears founded Sandy Point in the 1870s. Richard is father of five and grandfather of six.

CHRISTOPHER FARRINGTON

After graduating from SAC, Chris earned his commercial pilot's license and in 1970 joined Out Island Airways and worked his way up to Captain. When that airline was taken over to form Bahamasair, he became a captain on the Fairchild FH227 and flew for the national flag carrier until 1976 when he started his own water sports business. In '79 he was invited to join a crew of friends aboard a 32-foot sailboat for a voyage around the Atlantic, stopping at Bermuda, the Azores, Portugal, Spain and Gibraltar. He eventually wound up in Germany, then travelled all through Europe before returning home, beginning a ten-year stint as a service manager for a large marine store. Meanwhile, he had married in 1981 and in 1989 he and his wife became managers of a small resort in Green Turtle Cay, Abaco. A decade later the couple formed their own property management company, and Chris became a licensed real estate broker. Chris and his wife, originally from Bristol, England, have three children. His sons were born in 1982 and 1983, and a daughter arrived in '91. Their eldest works at Atlantis in the water feature section; the second son lives with them in Abaco and will marry at the end of May this year; their daughter is at college in Wales pursuing an interest in the medical field. The family continues to be live in Green Turtle Cay.

ROSALIE FAWKES

Rosalie obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Wheaton College, a Christian liberal arts institution in Wheaton, Illinois, and in September 1976 began a teaching career at Queen's College in Nassau. In 1982, she completed graduate studies at the University of Miami and earned a Master of Science in Education. After 23 years at Q.C. and five more years at Lyford Cay School, Rosalie retired from teaching in 2004. She currently serves as the General Secretary at the YWCA of The Bahamas, and in 2005 she established a school for piano studies that currently accommodates 24 students. Since 1972 Rosalie has actively participated in the church music ministry, serving either as pianist or organist for 37 consecutive years.

ARTHUR FOUNTAIN

After graduating from SAC Arthur attended St. Gregory's College in Shawnee, OK and went on to Oklahoma State University, graduating in 1973 with a degree in Hotel Management. On his return home, he pursued a few business interests, owning and operating several diversified companies. He is now a semi-retired businessman residing in Grand Bahama. Arthur has been married to his college sweetheart, Wolanza, for 35 years. He is the proud father of two children and has five grandchildren. His hobbies are fishing, boating, gardening and cooking.

OTTO FOUNTAIN

Otto entered St. Gregory's College after SAC, and moved on to Oklahoma State University studying personnel management. Upon returning home, he was employed as assistant manager at G. B. Distributors in Grand Bahama. He went on to own and operate his own vending company, Pastime Holdings Ltd., before assuming the post of general and sales manager for the Northern Division of Pepsi Cola Bahamas Ltd. He is presently pursuing a degree in law. He also gives back to the country as a corporal in the Police Reserve. Otto has been married for 30 years to Joan Burgzorg (youngest sister of classmate, Lena). His hobbies include golf, fishing and martial arts.

RUDOLPH FRANCIS M.D.

Rudy went from SAC to Fisk University (BA chemistry Cum Laude) and attended medical schools at the University of Kansas, Meharry Medical College in Nashville, TN and Northwestern U. in Chicago, IL. Rudy has enjoyed a 29-year career as a physician and anesthesiologist. Along the way he excelled with fellowships in chronic pain at Vanderbilt University in Nashville and in pediatric anesthesia at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, PA. Apart from private practice in North Carolina for 20 years, he spent several years heading up the anesthesia department at the Rand Hospital in Freeport. He is now Chief of Anesthesia at Meharry Medical College, and lives in Nashville, TN. He has two children, a boy-and-girl set of twins, who are now 31. He is working towards a retirement that will each year give him six months in the Bahamas and six in the USA.

CHRISTOPHER L. HAMILTON

Chris earned his associate's and BSc degrees in zoology at St. Gregory's College in Shawnee, OK and Howard University in Washington, D.C. He was certified as a chemical technician at the College of the Bahamas in Freeport, and in 1988 obtained an environmental engineering certificate from Kennedy Western University in Long Beach, CA. His career has taken him from BORCO in Freeport to the Kaduna Refinery in Nigeria and back to Freeport for stints at NITA Pharmaceuticals, Gist Brocade and finally Intertek Testing Services, with whom he worked also in the US, Puerto Rico and the Netherlands Antilles, finishing up as Caribbean quality manager from 1994 to 2000. Since then he has been CEO of his own firm, Enviro-Services in Freeport. Chris is married to Doris Iyawunmi Oyelude Hamilton. He has five children: Christopher Ferron, a builder; Funmilayo, a pilot; Hausa-Nandi, a teacher; Rueben Bernard, MD; and Chanae NyAshia, at school in the Netherlands Antilles.

BISHOP WALTER S. HANCHELL, J.P.

After St Augustine's, Walter completed a course in general business and accountancy at the Nassau Technical Institute, and later graduated from the prestigious Haggai Institute in Singapore. He is President of Great Commission Ministries International, a global mission organization headquartered in Nassau with branches in Africa, South-East Asia and the Caribbean. He is a member of the Joint College of Pentecostal Bishops, and also serves as the General Overseer of the People's Assembly Fellowship of Churches, comprising 136 churches around the world. He is a missiologist who has trained and equipped many church leaders and members for evangelism and missions over the past 25 years. Walter has led mission teams to every inhabited island in the Bahamas and to foreign lands including Ghana, Kenya, Tanzania, Nigeria, India, Bangladesh, Singapore, Malaysia, Cuba, Jamaica, the Dominican Republic and the Turks and Caicos Islands. He also founded the Save the Children Club for high-risk youths and is an advocate for the poor. His ministry has helped put homeless shelters, orphanages, churches and feeding centers in Bangladesh, Kenya and the Bahamas. He has served on governmental and civic boards, and is a recipient of many awards over the years including the Nation Builders Award and the Global Leader Award. In business, Walter serves as President of PGF Realty Limited, a real estate brokerage and management company. He is married to Elder Minalee Hanchell and is the proud father of four children: Damon, Pastor Tejado, Tamalia and Ruben. An avid reader and sports enthusiast, his hobbies are watching boxing and basketball games and experiencing different cultures.

KAREN HIGGS ROGERS

Since graduating from SAC, Karen worked with Bill's Real Estate and Imperial Life before joining the law firm of Higgs & Kelly where she is currently employed. In June this year, she will celebrate being married to Albert Rogers for 37 years. They have three sons, all now married: Jeffrey, 35; Darren, 33 and Nicholas, 27. Karen and Albert have one grandson, Drew, and another grandchild will arrive this summer. She enjoys baking for her friends and family, looks forward to going to the movies with her husband on Friday evenings, and thrives on spending precious time with her grandchild.

JOHN HOCHAN

John attended St. John's University, along with Preston Albury, Sam Brown, Rudy Sawyer, Holman McDonald and Dudrick Edwards. He worked in St. Paul, Minnesota for six years while studying part-time at the University of Minnesota. He later moved to Clearwater, Florida to work for eight years. He returned to Nassau to work in Sam's office for two years. Then John was off for seven years in New York City, where he met up with Michael Brooks, Sherwin Bethel and Rhodnie Williams to attend the annual West Indian parade there. He went from the American Big Apple to the Bahamian second city of Freeport for about two years before finally settling in Hollywood, Florida, where he is in the export and delivery business to The Bahamas.

GREGORY LAMPKIN

Greg was busy or ill when he - never for a moment in his life at a loss for words - submitted the following text: - "Born: May 28, 1951, Charleston, S.C. Married: 29 years to Jeanine Marie Smith. Children: Maria, Jordan, Corinne, Jonathan. Co-host on the Morning Express Show and Operations Director on Star 106.5FM. Director of Freedom Farm Baseball League. Hobbies: coaching Little League baseball, reading, and fishing. Favorite author: Walter Mosley. He evidently saves his wind for on-air, and wouldn't even grace us with one of those jokes the morning weatherman would rate as a "minus t'ree" on a scale of one-to-ten!

STELLA LAWRENCE PINDER

Stella is very happily married to Michael Pinder and the couple has one daughter, Amanda, who is married and lives and teaches in Florida. Stella lives in Nassau and has worked at the law firm of Graham, Thompson & Co. for 39 years as a legal assistant, which speaks for itself as to her dedication to that firm. Her husband is manager and part owner of Muffler World Ltd. She and Michael enjoy lots of travel and this year are going on a 21-day cruise to Portugal, Spain, Morocco, Gibraltar, France & Italy. They have been so very blessed. Life is good...

KELVIN LEACH

Kelvin Leach finished SAC and moved on to Queen's College to commence G.C.E. A level studies; he later became the Head Boy of that institution. It was then off to Ryerson Polytechnic Institute in Toronto, Canada for diploma studies in hospitality management. He later pursued studies at Florida International University in Miami and obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in the same subject. Later he also undertook Trust House Forte hospitality management training in London, England. Currently he is self-employed, managing ERKE Investments, ERKE Construction and ERKE Consultants International. He is married to Kathryn Ingraham, and is the proud father of three sons: Kelvin, Jr., Justin and Jason, and one daughter, Vanessa. He married Susan Sawyer in 1975 who is also a 1974 SAC graduate. They are the proud parents of three (3) daughters and two (2) sons and grandparents of three (3). In 1975 he moved to Freeport as manager of City Associates/City Pharmacy-Oasis. Through the years he has managed several diversified businesses including Cove House, Lucayan Towers and Harbour House Towers, Shoe Village, Athletes Foot, The Ginza and John Bull. He also owned and operated LMR Drugs, Freeport Decorators, Colony Signs, Gulfstream Landscaping, Paint Fair, Foot Locker – Freeport, Freddy's Pops Pit Stop and currently Seahorse Drug Mart. Of himself he says, "I am now PHYSICALLY UNFIT, MENTALLY PERTURBED AND FINANCIALLY EMBARRASSED."

MICHAEL ROLLE ("Sweet Lou")

Michael went from SAC to a 39-year career with Scotia Bank. Armed with executive training from the Ivey School of Business at the University of Western Ontario, he has served as a branch manager in Nassau, Exuma, Freeport and Long Island; operations manager in Georgetown, Guyana; regional training officer for the Caribbean; assistant general manager for Global Risk Management in Toronto and managing director in the British Virgin Islands. He retired from Scotia a year ago as Vice President for Commercial Banking in Nassau. He is now Managing Director of MBR Financial & Associates. His community service includes being chairman of the BVI Banking Association and a member of the Red Cross finance committee. Michael has been married for 34 years, and has four children and two grandchildren. His hobbies include golf, fishing and traveling.

PATRICK RYAN

Patrick went to the University of Madrid in Spain, living there for two years while studying and also teaching English. He spent the next two years at St. John's University studying philosophy, before working in the Bahamas for two years as a spear fisherman. Patrick then studied law in London before returning to Nassau in 1978 to join Club Med. with whom he worked in different clubs around the world as a scuba instructor. He then briefly resumed law studies in Nassau under Sir Geoffrey Johnstone at Higgs & Johnson before returning to diving, but only as a prelude to studying emergency medicine and becoming a paramedic in Florida in 1989. During the 1990s he worked again as a commercial diver on underwater films, and on scuba instructing and underwater engineering. Patrick returned to law studies in England in 2004, earning his LL.B. in 2006 and completing the English Bar vocational course in '07, and being called to the English Bar late that year. Patrick is presently working as an associate at Higgs & Johnson in Nassau.

ABE SASSO

Abe works out of the Oklahoma City office of the Internal Revenue Service. (He offers no explanation of his transition from SAC-grad to tax-man)! He and his wife of 35 years, Susan, have two children. Their eldest, Anne Elizabeth, is an interior designer whose work has included servicing luxury hotels in Nashville, TN and Dallas, TX, and is now focused on restaurant design. Their son, Brian Stanley, has just finished fifteen months in Iraq with the U.S. Army and will be stationed in Texas when he finishes his current assignment with his unit in Germany. Susan is an administrator at the University of Oklahoma. She and Abe live in the university town of Norman, Oklahoma, smack in the middle of tornado alley where “we dream of the Bahamas’ tropic warmth, beaches and beautiful people.”

HERMAN SAWYER (“Rudy”)

Since 1974, Rudy has lived in Freeport, where his career has embraced banking and credit union operation, petroleum inspection, insurance agent, business ownership, private consulting and public service. He has been chairman and general manager of the Grand Bahama Co-operative Credit Union; an executive in co-op oversight; president of the G.B. Chamber of Commerce; and a councilor and deputy chief councilor of Local Government’s Freeport District. He is now assistant general manager for the Northern Region of the Bahamas Agricultural and Industrial Corp. He has also served as chairman of the Mary Star of the Sea Church Bazaar Committee, and as triple-jump coach for a track club. Rudy is twice divorced. He has a son and a daughter, plus two grand-daughters. His interests are nature, backgammon, Bahamian and Caribbean music and dance, and sports.

CECILE M. SHERMAN (“Ceil”)

Between 1973 and ’79 she obtained degrees at the Associate’s, Bachelor’s and Master’s levels. She loves children and is a surrogate parent to five males aged 10 years to 30. She is a devoted Roman Catholic and has served in numerous ministries over the years, including being a commentator, Eucharist Minister and lector to the present time. Cecile is known as a world traveler, having visited many cities in the Americas (Central, North and South), Asia, Australia and New Zealand, the Caribbean, Europe, the Middle East and the U.K.

FAYE SMITH

After graduating from St. Augustine's Faye moved to Freeport where she worked in the banking industry for 19 years, obtaining an associates' degree in banking along the way. She then worked in the time-share real estate industry for several years, and is presently an administrative secretary. She was at one time involved in the arena of sports, but has since retired. Her passion now is working with her church's school children, and travelling. "I have faced many challenges in life but through God's grace and mercy, I have come through them stronger and wiser."

ELIZABETH STORCH JONES

Liz lives in Tampa, FL where she has for about 20 years worked for two attorneys in the antitrust department at a law firm there. One of her bosses heads the firm's business litigation practice, the biggest group in their chambers. She has been married to Gary Jones for almost 20 years. His hobby is riding motorcycles, and so they have a Harley which they enjoy on weekends. They once rode all the way to North Carolina. They also enjoy RV-ing. Liz even quit her job for a year to travel with Gary all the way out to California and Wyoming, then back to Tampa via Pennsylvania. Her son David is married to Angela and they have a little girl named Mary who is five years old. "So, I am finally a grandmother and still riding motorcycles!!! Where did all the time go???"

LIVINGSTON STUART

Following his SAC graduation, Livingston was employed with Barclays Bank in Freeport for four years. He later moved on to the Grand Bahama Port Authority, rising to the position of accountant. He resigned in 1985 to spend time with his ailing mother, who died a year later. He then entered Miami Dade College and graduated with an accounting degree. Returning to Freeport, he worked with G.B. Bakery & Snack Food as financial controller for four years. Livingston then relocated to Eleuthera, where he is currently self-employed and a consultant for a development company. Married twice, he has four children and four grandchildren and looks forward to a long retirement.

THERESA SWEETING JOHNSON

Theresa Sweeting Johnson is the proud mother of three boys and one girl. She is presently a senior trained clinical nurse at the Princess Margaret Hospital. In 1993 she was recognized for outstanding and dedicated services at the Princess Margaret Hospital. In 2002 she was also named the most prestigious nurse of the year for private services. Along with being a full time nurse, she teaches a Sunday School class ages 9-12 at Southland Church of God every Sunday morning. Her hobbies include walking, reading and spending time with her family.

LORNA TAYLOR MUNROE

Lorna went from SAC to the PMH School of Nursing where she completed training as a State Registered Nurse (SRN). Later she furthered her studies at Creswell Maternity Hospital in Dumfries, Scotland, and became a State Certified Midwife (SCM). Notwithstanding her nursing qualifications, she was employed at Eastern Airlines and Pan American Airways before taking on her present job with the Grand Bahama Port Authority in Freeport as an administrative assistant. She is now pursuing a degree in business administration. Lorna is married to Patrick Munroe and they have three sons: Patrick (tennis pro), La'Vaughn (deceased in February 2009) and Parysh (studying and playing basketball at Kentucky State). She still enjoys sports and has playing tennis more skillfully as her immediate goal. Her hobbies include gardening, cooking and decorating. She also has a very rewarding involvement with a children's ministry at her church.

MAXINE TAYLOR-SOLES

Maxine Taylor-Soles is employed at First Caribbean Bank. She is the proud mother of three children: Kurt, Giahna and Tagia and the grandmother of four grandsons. Her hobbies include baking, jogging and reading.

REV. RHODNIE WILLIAMS

Rhodnie left SAC to work in the travel industry - at first with Eastern Airlines as a passenger service agent, and then with United Airlines as a microcomputer specialist in the IT department. He has been active in his church in various capacities including coordinator for the music ministry, church administrator and head of the men's ministry. He was chosen Man of the Year for 2004 at the annual church convention. He was throughout this period studying for the ministry and was eventually ordained to preach the gospel. His greatest accomplishments to date are his ordination, and overseeing his own Method of Love Outreach Ministries Int'l. His special interests are travelling, collecting both gospel and secular music, and working with homeless men in his community with regard to finding jobs, food and shelter.

FAIRIE WILKINSON-KRAFT

Fairie credits her 26 years at Air Canada with affording her a wealth of knowledge and benefits which she enjoys to this day. She went from there into the cruising industry which she has been enjoying for 14 years at Premier Travel. During the '70's she joined the Bahama Drama Circle. She had both major and minor roles in many of that group's productions which included "Barefoot in the Park", "Amen Corner", "Girl in my Soup", "Butterflies are Free" and "Tender Trap". Blessed with 36 years of marital bliss, she and her husband, Aaron, have two children, both graduates of SAC. Georgia is a physiotherapist at KTH Physiotherapy Services in Nassau. Alexander served as a soldier in the Iraq war and now, having finished his enlistment, is nearing completion of a degree in aircraft mechanics. Fairie's family has worshipped at Sacred Heart Catholic Church since the liturgy ceased at St Augustine's Monastery. "Life has been good!"

ADALEE WOODSIDE-WISSEH

Adalee has a Bachelor of Arts degree in history and a Masters Degree in Education with an emphasis in guidance and counseling. Adele served for many years with the Ministry of Education and completed her years as an educator at the College of The Bahamas. Presently she and her husband, Michael Wisseh who hails from Liberia, own and operate Quality Fabrics. Adele has two children, Makedo and Felicia and one grand child that is named after her. She is very passionate about her hobbies which include reading, travelling and walking. Her travels have taken her to Africa, Europe, the United States and she just recently returned from a trip to the Holy Land. Adele's charitable endeavors revolve around the Great Commission Ministries and the Children's Emergency Hostel.

AU REVOIR

Dear Classmates:

What a spectacular weekend!!

We have renewed friendships during this weekend of activities and hopefully, will remain in touch with one another until we meet again for another class reunion. In this age of technology we have no excuse as to why we can't be in touch with each other. Please let us know when you intend to be in the area so that we can get together, stay updated as to what's happening in your life and, when things are not going as expected, be there for one another.

Good luck and may God continue to bless you in the future. All are wished a "safe journey" as we part and return to our homes. Hopefully these reunions will continue, at least every five years, so that we can remember "the good ole days" at SAC.

BE BLESSED!
